Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

International Rotary is meeting this week in San Francisco. The great city by the Golden Gate is flying banners throughout all its gay thoroughfares. Over all the hostelries are the words "Welcome Rotary." And San Francisco means it. Passersby help Rotarians to find their way about. The police, always polite, are specially courteous to the 10 or 12 thousand visitors. As a host, San Francisco, in the words of the late President Taft, "knows how."

While Americans are extremely slow to think in international terms, a great many citizens of foreign countries are learning to do so rapidly. When M. Maurice Duperry delivered his address before an audience of 5,000 Rotarians in the Fox Theatre in San Francisco Monday afternoon, he partticularly stressed the vital need of more understanding, one nationality with another, and gave instances of the good work which Rotarians are doing toward maintaining and fostering peace abroad.

M. Duperry said: "I am convinced that Rotary's role in human relations will grow increasingly important—that the Rotary ideal, attracting the support of the best elements of every country, will penetrate deeply into the minds of men and help to bring to a troubled world the peace for which we are all hoping.

"In South America I found a continent full of activity working vigorously to exploit its natural resources and to build up a modern industrial civilization. The economic crisis weighing so heavily on other parts of the globe exists there only as an unpleasant memory and all these young countries are enjoying prosperity."

Of the work of Rotary in promotion of international good will. Duperrey said the Rotarians arranged interchange of blankets, money, cigarettes and other necessities for prisoners of war during the Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia.

"When the armistice was finally signed, the Foreign Minister of the Argentine Republic publicly paid tribute to Rotary for the work it had accomplished in pacing the way toward understanding and peace," Duperrey said.

"When there was a certain tension between Uurguay and the Argentine, the Rotarians of those two countries did their best to wipe out the misunderstanding and to create good will by arranging to effect an exchange of their sons at holiday time.

"I was also very much impressed when attending a,t the border of Chile and Peru, a ceremony which took place there between the clubs of Arica and Tacna. The Rotarians of those two clubs affixed a plaque on a monument which was erected on the frontier of their two countries after the war and which is named "Concordia."

"As you know, Rotary affirms the duty of every citizen to address his activity toward the general interest and, first of all, toward the progress and prosperity of his country,' and Rotary expects its members, 'while co-operating toward a cordial understanding, to be thoroughly loyal to the higher interests of their particular country.'

"So it is natural to expect that Japanese Rotarians will be carrying on as loyal Japanese, and Chinese Rotarians as loyal Chinese, just as you and I are each loyal citizens of our own countries."

Duperrey said that Rotary had contacted the governments of both warring countries, to see if peace could be established. He also spoke of the Rotary in Germany and Austria.

"These Rotarians proved by their example that the first duty of every Rotarian is to be a loyal citizen of his own country. We sincerely regret that the Rotarians of Germany and Austria, in the face of circumstances, felt that the only decision they could take was to disband their Rotary clubs."

Of the war in Spain, Duperrey said Rotary had done its best to relieve suffering.

Duperrey spoke of Rotary as he had seen it in other countries of Europe and in Asia and North Africa. In Arabia, he said, Rotary is the only common meeting ground of Jew and Arab.

Mr. and Mrs. Verle Gray had as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wolfe and Maurice Hemphill, of Lodi. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe were married in Reno, Saturday morning. Mr. Hemphill was best man. They were enroute home.

Merchants To Open Trade Expansion Drive

Commencing July 1, the Nugget will introduce to home owners in the Twin City area two feature pages—entirely different from anything heretofore published.

This feature will be the first in a series—which may run indefinitely—designed to bring to local residents each week — "Outstanding Buys" in Nevada City and Grass Valley stores. Bargains heretofore unheard of—not even in nearby towns and cities—will be offered, in an effort to convince the local buying public—that one does not have to go elsewhere to shop, due to the fact that the manufacturers and jobbers who sell our local concerns are the same ones who sell their merchandise to the business concerns in the larger cities.

Money spent with our local concerns—especially those who are cooperating to make this campaign successful—will do much towards stimulating employment in the Twin City area and elsewhere.

Money spent locally will go a long way towards assisting everyone to make improvements in their homes and places of business—while money spent elsewhere will leave this area—never to return.

FREE TRADE AWARDS

Most people like to read about someone they know in the newspapers. Some people like to see their names in print—especially if it is for something worth while.

With this thought in mind and to make this coming feature doubly attractive listen to this:

Between $250 and $300 in Trade Awards — will be offered to local residents during the next Ten Weeks.

Incorporated in each advertisement, will be found the name of some person living in this vicinity (the name will be hidden) which will entitle that person to 50c in trade at the place of business in whose advertisement their name appears. These names will be "blind-picked", no partiality will be shown. All that will be required of that person, is to clip out the advertisement and take it to the concern in whose advertisement the name appeared (within one week) and receive the trade award. You'll enjoy looking for these names.

Every week thereafter a new group of names will appear ,also entitling each one of these people to a freetrade award. A name will only appear once. There will not be any duplication of names.

Attractive window cards, will also be displayed by all concerns participating in this outstanding trade expansion campaign.

Especially designed price-cards will also be noticeable at a glance when once a store is entered, calling attention to each weeks outstanding money-saving opportunity.

Make it a point to watch for this feature when this campaign commences from July 1 to September 15, especially if you want to make your dollar go a long way—thus enabling you to make other purchases with the money you will have saved by spending in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

Tell your friends about it. Be sure to look for your names.

In conclusion—we are adopting his slogan:

BOOST, BUY, BUILD IN NEVADA CITY AND GRASS VALLEY.

"The Vacation Spot of Northern California."

MERRIAM CLUBS RAPIDLY FORMED IN NOR. CALIF.

Organization chairman for Merriam-for-Governor Clubs in seventeen northern counties were announced today by Bradford M. Melvin, northern California manager of the Merriam campaign. Organization work is proceeding rapidly in the other thirty one northern counties, Melvin said.

Chairman announced were as follows: A. F. Ross, Amador; Ray M. Koenig, Alpine; J. L. O'Rourke, Colusa; Homer P. Brown, Eldorado; Judge J. K. Burnett, Glenn; Ross Draper, Lassen; Walter Sandelin, Mendocino; J. C. Jarman, Modoc; Fred Cassidy, Nevada; Bert Cassidy, Placer; J. N. Stephens, Plumas; John M. Sheedy, Sierra; Walter Fink, Shasta; William R. Lee, Siskiyou; Charles H. Segestrom, Tuolumne; Tom McGlynn, Tehama; Noah Nagler, Yuba-Sutter.

"Chairmen report a quick response in club enrollments," Melvin said, in announcing progress of the organization work. "The concensus of agreement among those enlisting to re-elect Governor Merriam is that he has earned re-election on his record and there has been no reason shown for a change.

"Governor Merriam's record in balancing the budget after inheriting a deficit of $31,000,000, is a strong feature for his support."

CALIF. GASOLINE SALES IN MAY 8.24 BELOW 1937

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—Gasoline sales throughout California took a substantial drop during May, the state board of equalization reported today.

The gasoline tax for last month amounted to $4,296,311.55, or 8.24 per cent below the $4,635,695.55 assessed for the same month of 1937. The loss was approximately the same when last month's figure was compared with April of this year when a total of $4,632,373.50 was assessed in gasoline taxes.

So far this year gains have been shown by only two months, February and April, while losses were recorded by the other three months in comparison to 1937.

STATE HEALTH OFFICER TESTS PIONEER POOL

A state inspector for the health department made an examination of the water in the municipal pool and declared it ranks with the best in the state, only a minute fraction under 100 per cent. The park commission is much pleased with this report of the tests made. Water running into the pool is now filtered in the huge cement structure built last year at a cost of $250, copper sulphate and a chlorine compound is used to sterilize the water and kill all bacilli and algae in the water. The water is now delightfully clear.

The big tank, 100 by 50 feet, will be closed today, to enable Verle Gray, life guard at the pool, to paint the deeper part of the pool white, so that at all times the bottom of the pool will be clearly visible. The pool will be reopened Saturday in time for the big picnic on Sunday which will take place there under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars who are giving it to raise money for the Fourth of July celebration.

GRIM REAPER CALLS DAVID HEFFELFINGER

Late Saturday afternoon Mrs. Heffelfinger received a telegram telling of the death of her husband, David Heffelfinger who had gone to an eastern health resort owned by his brother. He had obtained employment there and according to a letter received by Mrs. Heffelfinger a few days ago he felt improved in health and was enjoying his work. Mr. Heffelfinger underwent a severe operation some time ago and it was believed that he was getting along fine. His death comes as a great shock to his wife and relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Foreman and two sons of Oakland have come to Nevada City to reside. Mr. Foreman is a brother of Bert Foreman, superintendent of the Sugar Pine Products company plant.

ROTARY VIEWS SCOUT SCENES

With two Rotarians, Clyde Gwin, and Nye Johnson attending Rotary international convention in San Francisco, two others on their vacation, H. E. Kjorlie and Robert Hendricks and a half dozen absent on the Whoopee caravan to neighboring cities in Yuba and Placer county, the luncheon meeting of the Nevada City club yesterday revealed a slim attendance.

Sam Partridge of Grass Valley exhibited a series of lantern slide pictures in color of scouts and scouting, the Grand Canyon, Bryce and Zion canyons, and beautiful views of Tahoe and the high Sierras. Bill Tamblyn was chairman of the day. H. M. Leete, president, gave a short talk on his attendance at the first three days of the International Rotary conclave in San Francisco.

Hal Draper of the Fourth of July committee reported the progress being made for the three day Fourth of July celebration to be held in this city on July 2, 3, and 4. The Fourth plans are reported elsewhere in these columns.

SETH MARTIN TUNNEL OF 60'S REOPENED

Robert Ewing is reopening the old Seth Martin tunnel on his property, Queen of Mt. Oro and Golden King claims on Mt. Oro about 15 miles east of Nevada City. This old tunnel was driven in the 60's and is about 400 feet long. From the very first work he encountered three by three inch hand hewn rails that were part strap iron and part wood, and they are in good condition. Forty feet from the face the timbering was found to be in fair shape, caps being broken down in places. It is expected that as work progresses the open tunnel will be found leading into the old channel. Seth Martin found $82,000 in gold on a bench according to court house records and when he started to drive through pipe clay in sinking, a heavy flow of water drove the men out. Interesting developments are expected as Mr. Ewing continues his work.

SANBORN YOUNG STATEWIDE HEAD OF PEACE BODY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—State Senator Sanborn Young, rancher and dairyman, has been named statewide chairman of the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations, according to an announcement made here today by John J. Miller for the sponsors advisory committee. Senator Young took over his duties at headquarters in the Kohl building today, and gave out the following statement:

"I have accepted the chairmanship of the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations because I am thoroughly convinced of the vital necessity for the enactment of the initiative measure it is sponsoring.

"As a rancher and a dairyman, the requests from agriculturists throughout the state that I serve in this capacity have naturally had great weight with me. The ranchers are alarmed and indignant at the stoppage and destruction of farm products on the way to market, and they assure me they will work unitedly for this legislation.

"We know that this measure will safeguard the liberty of the employee who wants to work, save him from brutal attacks by "beef squads", and restore the freedom promised him by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. It affirms the principle of collective bargaining and it does not interfere with the right to strike.

"The measure is fair and just to employee and employer alike, and gives the people at large much needed protection against the evils that often accompany labor controversies. All these things it will accomplish by sane regulation of picketing, by outlawing "sit down" and "stay in" strikes, by guaranteeing employees the right to work without molestation by unscrupulous labor agitators and insuring free use of streets, high ways and wharves to the public.

"Californians must choose between continued coercion, intimidation and violence, and permanent industrial peace.

Caravan Tours Cities In Valley To Stir Fiesta Enthusiasm

The Nevada City Nugget will issue next Friday a holiday number specially illustrated by drawings made by Mrs. Harold Deeter, carrying out the theme of Old Mexico under the flag of which Nevada City was born.

At ameeting held Wednesday evening the Fourth of July committee chose Dr. W. P. Hawkins of this city to be Grand Marshal of the day for the Fourth celebration.

Nevada City dance fans will be pleased to learn that the Christensen orchestra of Livermore has been employed for the Fourth celebration. They played for the celebration in this city two years ago.

The Drum and Bugle Corps of the Sciots of Berkeley will be in the parade on the Fourth and several others are expected. The Nevada City high school band will also take part.

Mrs. Hal D. Draper was selected chairman of the July 3 program and is arranging a splendid patriotic group several of the selections being particularly fine. This program will be published in a later issue of the Nugget.

George W. Gildersleeve, in charge of the Fourth of July program, is working tirelessly to make the three day holiday a huge success.

The big benefit celebration to be held in Pioneers park June 26 will serve a Mexican lunch and there will be an interesting program. Soft ball games, fashion show, trick dogs, greased pig and many others will fill the time to over flowing. In the evening there will be a dance at the ElDorado or Armory Hall on Broad street. Money raised from this celebration will be used to defray expenses of the Fourth.

Three car loads of Nevada City men and citizens made up the caravan that traveled to Colfax, Auburn, Roseville, Sacramento, Lincoln, Marysville and Grass Valley yesterday as a booster unit for the coming Fourth of July in Nevada City. A mountain lion that was killed at North Bloomfield by Lion Hunter Ledshaw, Captain A. H. Willard of the Fish and Game Commission and Bill Lamar, was mounted on the lead car and drew much interest throughout the trip.

Those making the trip were, Charles Leiter, Louis Kopp, George Falmbigl, Oscar Odegaard, Jim Purvis, Glenn G. Scott, Emmett Gallagher, R. J. Berggren, Bill Woods and the following group composed a stringed band, Frank Cartoscelli, Arthur Hill, C. M. Berry, Albert Conti. All were gay in their Spanish costumes and the bunting bedecked cars.

MAY WEST ROAD MENACE TO CARS OF BIG CROWD

An early morning fisherman enroute to the Downieville district Sunday reports that on the May West highway he met hundreds of the San Juan Cherry Festival visitors returning to Nevada City and it was no joke traveling against the traffic in the "wee sma' hours" on the road of many curves. And he'd like to know why, oh, why, isn't something done to iron out some of the dangerous curves.

He also remarked that the crowd returning from the festival was composed of careful drivers and that the hazard was not in the drivers but in the dangerous narrow curves.

GOOD FOOD, BIG TIME, SCOUTS AT PAHATSI

What a popular place the Scouts' camp Pahatsi on Kilborn lake is going to be this summer with the announcement of turkey and trimmins' not to mention pie and cake as part of the regular camp diet. Sounds like home. The camp committee is anxious to carry on their slogan of past years, that each camper have plenty to eat of good nourishing food served in balanced menus.

Work parties of men and scouts will make Kilborn Lake a busy place Sunday the 26th placing camp in readiness as far as possible for its opening July 3. Each district is forming groups to do this necessary yearly routine making a picnic day of the whole affair.

Tuesday June 28 the advance party of the camp staff will erect tents and make the last arrangements. The last day prior to camp opening will be for staff training in their camp duties. These scouts have had as much as 6 and 8 years of training at Pahatsi.

The nature department plans to transplant trees and shrubs along the nature trail that has been built in past years around the lake. Opportunities will be provided to do pioneering and other merit badge projects as part of the regular camp program.

GRASS FIRE

The city fire department was called and sent one truck to a fire, grass fire, at Echo Ranch out on the Murchie road not far from the Murchie mine. The state fire truck also went to the scene of the fire. About an acre was burned over before being brought under control.

HUGE MOUNTAIN LION KILLED AT N. BLOOMFIELD

Considerable interest was manifest here yesterday forenoon when a large mountain lion killed within a half mile of the city limits of North Bloomfield, was brought to Nevada City. The huge cat had killed a buck deer early Tuesday morning and dragged it for a distance and then picked it up and carried it several hundred yards to bury it in pine needles and leaves. A man at North Bloomfield saw where the deer had been dragged across the road and thinking it had been shot by hunters notified the fish and game commission.

When Captain Willard of the Fish and Game Commission went to the scene he stated it was a lion kill. The scent could not be picked up by the dogs after some hunting by Lion Hunter Ledshaw. The party consisting of Lion Hunter Ledshaw, Captain A. H. Willard, Bill Lamar of the fish and game commission and 14 year old Bill James of Nevada City, returned to the scene yesterday morning. The lion returned to his kill and the scent was picked up in about 15 minutes by the dogs.

The lion was treed three times in heavy manzanita brush and shot each time, the last a direct bullet in the chest bringing him down as he sat spitting and hissing. The big cat is sleek and fat, his hair is dark brown.

The big creature measured eight feet from tip to tip and weighed 85 pounds.

BOYS AND GIRLS ON BIKES, LISTEN

All boys and girls who own and ride bicycles are asked to report Thursday evening at 7 o'clock to Charles Ellott and Verle Gray at the pool in Pioneers park. A brigade of 50 bicycles is to be formed and prizes galore are to be offered for the best decorated bicycles in the Fourth of July parade. Charles Elliott is in charge of this feature of the program.

One of the features of the picnic next Sunday at Pioneers park will be a pet race, Verle Gray, life guard at the pool states. He wants every boy who owns a dog to report at the park between now and Sunday.

William N. Snell, son of Attorney and Mrs. James Snell of Town Talk is one of the 133 graduates from Stanford University with the class of 1938, who will continue their studies next year at the university under a fellowship.

Communists Jeer At Kidnap Search

While the entire nation grieved with the parents of little Jimmy Cash in the kidnaping of their son, and law enforcement agencies made super-human efforts to solve his disappearance, Communists stood by and sneered at the work of J. Edgar Hoover and his G-men.

With loathsome disregard for facts and viewing the tragic incident with malicious humor, the People's World, the Communist daily, in a feature column the day before Mr. Hoover captured the kidnaper and found the broken body of the little boy, printed this:

"There's a big story on the kidnaping in Florida of the five-year-old Cash boy. And an apt name that is for the son of a rich man. Along with that story is a tale of G-man mystification on why kidnapings continue in spite of the rough way Edgar Hoover's men shoot kidnapers. Mr. Hoover's G-men never even got interested in the kidnaping of the many Nevada City, California, miners by vigilante strike breakers.

"And the reason why kidnaping continues is the social class difference that caused the G-men to do nothing for the Nevada City miners, and yet to rush in and do everything for the Cash boy. Nobody kidnaps the kids of poor people. And if they did the G-men would turn up their noses at such a case. Kidnaping is a part of capitalism and will continue no matter how many kidnapers Edgar Hoover shoots on sight, and without a trial."

This vicious attack on the G-men, an outburst of warped and twisted thought, is typical of the Communists' deliberate campaign to discredit every law enforcement officer. Truth plays no part in their statements. For example—the father of the Cash boy is a man of but moderate means, payment of the $10,000 ransom took his entire savings; there was no kidnaping at Nevada City, and, furthermore, no such heinous crime was reported to the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

G-men make no distinction between the wealthy and the poor. The crime itself, not the personalities involved, determines their actions. The character of these Communists tactics, with their despicable insinuations and brazen lies, must necessarily earn the condemnation of every decent citizen.

Simultaneous with the solution of the kidnaping of little Jimmy Cash came word from Washington that Congress would take steps to appropriate sufficient funds to enable the Federal Bureau of Investigation to recall its men from enforced furloughs and again to present its full strength against kidnapers and other enemies of society.—California Crusaders.

DEPRESSION IN U. S. MORE SEVERE THAN ABROAD

By JOHN CRADDOCK

NEW YORK, June 30.—BUSINESS—American businessmen were surprised to learn last week that the present depression is more severe in the United States than in any other country, according to a report by the Federal Reserve Board. The board pointed out, however, that manufacture of war materials in foreign countries, particularly England, Germany and Japan, is mainly responsible for keeping many factories humming. In America, factory employmet is still well above normal in ten industries, farm implements, iron and steel wirework, cash registers, engines and turbines, machine tools, aircraft, women's clothing, baking, beverages and rayon. It is significant that of these ten all but the aircraft industry are manufacturing essentially peace time goods. Perhaps America will be enjoying prosperity when other countries are busy paying for their armaments.

WASHINGTON—Although it had made total appropriations of close to $12,000,000,000 during its 163 day session, the 75th congress ended last week with a bitter senate debate in the final hour over whether the Lobby Investigating Committee should receive an additional $12,500 to carry on its work. The total appropriations are a peace time record, equal to approximately $50,000 for each minute congress was in session or to $92 for each man, woman and child in the country.

Bills passed during the session which will have an important bearing upon business include; federal regulation of wages and hours; $3,700,000,000 authorization for relief and public works; $1,500,000,000 authorization to the RFC for business loans; crop control and ever-normal granary; modification of capital gains and un-distributed profits tax; liberalization of FHA financing provisions; granting of power to SEC to pass upon reorganization of industrial corporations.

PRIVATE SPENDING—While the government gears its machinery to spend more money for relief and work projects, 42,000,000 of America's motorists will stage a spending program of their own this summer, parting with $1,806,000,000 touring the U. S. from Maine to Mexico. This year's rolling army will be 13 per cent greater than last year and the largest ever to take the road, according to The B. F. Goodrich Company which made the survey. Of the nation's 25,410,000 passenger automobiles, 14,000,000 are expected to join the tourist parade.

SELBY FLAT NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Gray of Concord, California, visited Mr. Gray's aunt, Mrs. Hattie May Williams, during the first part of this week.

The camps on Lake Vera are rapidly filling with Camp Fire Girls on their vacation. Two hundred are now in the Piedmont camp and eighty five at Camp Celio. Junior girls are expected to arrive at Camp Celio tomorrow.

Clarence Cooley of San Jose has joined his brother Leo Cooley who is working the Stella Sanders mine at Rock Creek. They expect to sink a 200-foot shaft.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Szemanski of San Francisco have arrived and expect to stay over the Fourth.

Everybody Is Right

H. M. L. Jr.

Controversial misunderstandings with other people are little thorns that jab us now and then as we go about our daily tasks. We are frequently aggravated by people who question our attitudes and positions on debatable subjects. We are right; we know that, and it is at times utterly uncomprehensible to us why anyone could take such ridiculous stands against our opinions, as people somewhat frequently do. This inability to understand how the other fellow can hold beliefs about our actions or thoughts, beliefs we know are absolutely wrong because they are contrary to what we are sure is absolutely right, gives rise to a good deal of irritibility.

The irritibility that acts as does a little thorn in disturbing our calm outlook can be averted by the simple and oft-advised method of understanding, at least in part, the other fellow's attitude. Understanding his attitude may sound easy, but people who hold opinions contrary to ours have attitudes that are extremely hard to understand. The old story about putting yourself in the other man's shoes and trying to see the situation as he sees it, sounds very weak to me. When we try to do this, we never forget the virtues of our own attitude, and the attempt usually increases our admiration of our intelligence and our exasperation at the contradictor's stupidity.

I believe that the best way to gain an insight into the other chap's outlook and thereby pave the way to a solution without irritation, is to look within ourselves. Our understanding is greatly increased if we examine our own thoughts with the view that the opponent's ideas probably have a sinister structure, though a different basis than ours.

In the first place w,e know we are right; there is no use in tampering with that assertion, because of all things, it is the most certain. Since we know we are right, and have conceded that the structure of our antaganist's ideas is very likely similar, we at once realize that he knows he is right. Oh, that throws the bright light of understanding on some of his idiotic mouthings. He knows he is right. Then probably some of the arguments he has been making, are quite logical to him.

But to us, what he says against our opinions is absolutely wrong. Then we realize that he probably believes that what we say about his opinions is absolutely wrong. Thus by supposing that his ideas about our position are similar to our ideas about his position we arrive at a working basis for patient understanding. We know of course, that we are still right and he is still wrong, but at least we can understand his error.

I suspect that nearly everyone considers at least ninety per cent of his actions and opinions to be absolutely right and perfectly justified. Too, nearly everyone is liable to believe that he is perfectly open-minded. Thus when some one voices an opinion quite contrary to the beliefs of the person sure of his rectitude and broad view, the offense is doubly outrageous; first because it throws doubt upon the immutable rightness of the hearer, and second because it is so ridiculous that he, in his avowed open-mindedness cannot tolerate it.

The trite old way of bridging the daily abysses of misunderstanding by "seeing it the other fellow's way" seems more flabby than the method of conceding that in most ordinary squabbles, the opponent's ideas are very similar in structure to our own. Then only can we have an inkling of the great power of self-righteousness, and tolerantly humor those who disagree with us.

HOW MUCH WILL BRIDGE HOLD? U.C. WILL ANSWER

BERKELEY, June 23.—If anyone is wondering just how many loaded trucks, trains, buses and automobiles the San Francisco Oakland Bay bridge will hold at one time he should figure on taking a run over to the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on "Treasure Island," San Francisco, where the thing will be worked out for him down to the last pound and the last quarter inch in span and tower deflection.

"How much will be the bridge hold?" is a question that is being asked fairly freely all around the United States, and the University of California, which helped build the bridge, is going to answer it in a dramatic fashion at the big show in 1939. The main point of interest in this exhibit will be a model of one whole span and two side spans of the bridge. Across these spans will be laid indicators which, when the bridge is fully or partially loaded, will show just how much the towers and other mobile apparatus which will constitute these loads, will be constantly on the move to give a striking and continuous picture of just how the span section of the bridge reacts to the loading and unloading process.

The model bridge, which will be made up of either flexible wood or metals for the towers and trusses, single strands of wire for the cables and piano wire for the strands holding the cables to the trusses, will be 11 feet, 6 inches long by two inches wide and will be one four-hunrredths of the actual size of the full and side spans. The towers will be one foot, two inches high. When the load moves onto the bridge from its belt conveyors, the indicators will show on a chart just how much "give" there is to the great structure.

Computed from the actual model from which the real bay bridge was built, a full or capacity load on both side spans at the same time on the real bridge will raise the center of the full span by 72 inches or six feet and will depress both side spans by the same figure. A full load on the whole span or the distance between any two towers (eliminating the central anchorage), would depress the center of such whole span by 103 inches or eight feet, seven inches. Engineers estimate that any single span with its side spans will accomodate a capacity load of 7,500 tons.

BOYHOOD FRIENDS ARE REUNITED AT SAN JUAN

An amusing incident occurred at North San Juan during the Cherry Carnival last week end. Fred E. Conner, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, met and visited with Mr. Frankie, manager of the dog show that is coming to Nevada City. After a time it was found both had resided in Santa Ana during their formative years and that Mr. Frankie's brother Fred, had worked with Mr. Conner in the Griffith lumber company mills in early youth, all of which goes to prove the world is a small place after all.

Mrs. C. B. O'Connor left today for Clarkston, Washington, where she will spend the next two months visiting her son and family.

OSTRICH EGGS ARE UTILIZED AS FOOD IN "OSTRICH COUNTRY." AND NO WONDER!— JUST ONE OSTRICH EGG MAKES AS MUCH FOOD AS TWO DOZEN ORDINARY HEN'S EGGS!
IN 1937 OVER 22,400,000 OUT OF A TOTAL OF 35,000,000 AMERICAN DWELLINGS WERE LIGHTED WITH ELECTRICITY— ANOTHER EVIDENCE OF AMERICA'S HIGH LIVING STANDARDS.
THE PERFECT CAR FOR THE BACK-SEAT DRIVER. THE ROCHET-SCHNEIDER AUTO INTRODUCED IN 1900 WAS DRIVEN FROM THE REAR SEAT! THE FRONT SEAT WAS FOR PASSENGERS.
TIMES CHANGE— FOR THE BETTER! TODAY, THE AVERAGE COST OF A TIRE IS $12.00 AND IT IS EXPECTED TO RUN 25,000 MILES (A COST OF APPROXIMATELY 1/20 CENT PER MILE!) IN 1910 THE AVERAGE TIRE COST $25.00 AND RAN ONLY 2500 MILES— (A COST OF ONE CENT A MILE!)
CONTRARY TO THE POPULAR BELIEF, MONKEYS DO NOT HAVE FLEAS!....(FLEAS LIVE ON CATS, DOGS, RABBITS, BATS AND POULTRY, BUT NOT ON MONKEYS!)

STATE SUPPLIES 40 PER CENT OF COUNTIES FUNDS

Subventions and grants of money from the state of California to the various counties in 1937 formed 40 per cent of county receipts for the year, according to the Annual Report of Financial Transactions of Municipalities and Counties of California issued this week by State Controller Harry B. Riley. The above figure is a considerable increase over ten years ago, when state grants made up only 15 per cent of the counties' income.

In 1927 85 per cent of the county revenue was raised through taxation and fees. The 1937 figures reveal that now only 60 per cent is raised from these sources. Expenditures by counties, with several exceptions, have changed very little over the ten-year period, according to Mr. Riley. The cost of general government remains at only 7 per cent of the total county payments. The most noticeable changes in expenditures are those for charity and education.

In 1927 8 per cent of county payments went for charities and corrections. Out of every dollar spent by counties last year 21c was spent for charities, including old age pensions, correctional institutions, etc. The increased amount of money spent for these purposes is largely due to additional federal and state grants. In 1927 there were no old-age pensions.

Educational costs in countries have dropped from 56c out of each dollar spent to 48c within the past ten years. Cost of highway maintenance has dropped from 11 per cent of total expenditures to 7 per cent over the same period.

The cost of protection to person and property and the cost of interest and redemption of debt remains the same in percentage. The cost of recreation, health and sanitation has dropped from 3 per cent to 2 per cent.

TOM SAWYER IN TECHNICOLOR AT THEATRE SUNDAY

Another stirring chapter in showmanship history has been written by David O. Selznich with his technicolor production of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," due to open Sunday at the Nevada Theatre.

Here was a story property, Mark Twain's best beloved and most widely-known work, that was a definite challenge to the resourcefulness of any producer.

Selznich had to do more than simply make another picture out of the rich material which the book offered; he had to invest the production with the flavor of up-to-the-minute commercial showmanship.

His first ten-strike in bringing a modern touch to "Tom Sawyer" was the nation wide talent hunt for an unknown boy to play Tom.

Overnight Tom Sawyer became a vital ,living personality, sharing the front page news with the Oriental and European war news, labor developments and the doings of congress. Thae was showmanship of a superb kind.

For nine months Selnich pressed his search for an unknown for the starring role, twice postponing production of the picture while the hunt continued.

Finally, after more than 25,000 boys from all walks of life in practically every state of the union had been viewed, tested or interviewed, 12 year old Tommy Kelly from the Bronx was selected as the unknown who would bring Mark Twain's unforgettable character of boyhood to the screen.

DR. D. L. HIRSCH IN CORONER RACE

Dr. Daniel L. Hirsch has announced his candidacy for Coroner of Nevada county and his many friends are pleased at the prospect of voting for him to fill this office. They believe he is unusually well qualified for the office. He took a special course in post mortem examinations in the Rush Medical college in Chicago, under perhaps the best known authority on this subject in this country. Dr. H. G. Wells.

Dr. Hirsch served his internship in the California hospital at Los Angeles and also served at the Georgia street receiving hospital in that city. He was chief resident physician at the California hosuital, Los Angeles and chief of the anesthetic service. During the Olympic Games in Los Angeles he was field surgeon. In 1933 to 1935 he served as camp physician to the CCC. Since 1935 he has been a practicing physician and surgeon in Grass Valley. He is the official instructor of American Red Cross First Aid classes of the Grass Valley chapter, chairman of the Disaster Relief Committee formed jointly by the Red Cross and veterans. He is post chaplain of the Hague-Thomas Hegarty Post No. 130, a deputy sheriff of Nevada County, and director and owner of the receiving hospital at 118 Bush street, Grass Valley.

Dr. Hirsch advocates the policy of taking the office of Coroner out of the hands of an undertaker. He states that a public office should not be given to one who wants it, but to one who is qualified and trained for that office. The purpose of the coroner's office is to determine the cause of death. A funeral director is interested in burial, while the coroner desires to know the cause. The coroner's office should in no way be connected with funeral directors, as the nearest relative is responsible for the disposition of a body and is free to choose the mortician. The coroner's office must determine the cause of death; and where a physician serves as coroner he is both qualified and trained and the only one permitted by law to make post-mortem examinations to find that cause. After this duty has been fulfilled, even in holding inquests the burial is then up to any undertaker, designated by the nearest relative. Thus a physician holding the office of coroner can be of still greater service to the community and a saving to the taxpayers. If elected he declares he will reruce the expenses of the office for the taxpayers.

Mr. and Mrs. R W.. Gaylord and family of Sacramento arrive today to spend the week end in Nevada City.

LOCAL FISHERMEN

Frank Ghidotti of the Cardinal Market caught a fine limit of trout last week-end and sent several beauties to his boss that were fully 16 inches long. The Lane-Ghidotti motor fishing boat has been put in dry dock for the rest of the season after several fishing trips into the high mountains.

John Tognarelli, another local sportsman, while fishing on Lake Bowman last week end stepped out on a floating log to cast better and over he went for a good ducking in the cold water.

PATRIOTISM ALSO INCLUDES VOTING

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

If the average Californian was suddenly confronted with the accusation that he had been guilty of gross neglect of his duties as a citizen; that he had been unpatriotic and disloyal to his state and nation—he would undoubtedly resent it and sputter for hours on end in righteous indignation.

Yet there might be more than a grain of truth in the accusation!

Men who would fight for their country at the drop of a hat have been known to go fishing on election day.

Women who sent sweaters and socks and chocolate bars in great abundance to the boys "over there" during war days—and spent restless nights wondering about sons on the battlefields — have been known to exclaim, "Oh, I leave the politics of the family to my husband."

Worried business men, who violently complain about "high taxes" have been known to observe: "I never read political editorials—politics is for politicians, I'm a business man!"

And even farmers have been known to turn off their radios in impatience when some candidate for public office started to outline his platform, or broadcast his views on the labor problem, or discuss the tax question.

As a matter of fact, when it comes to the every day chores of citizenship there are more Californians who dodge their responsibilities than there are who take them seriously. Yet the same citizens who go to the polls completely unprepared to vote for the best interests of their state or community would scowl at anyone who failed to remove his hat when the flag went by. Most of them if need be, would die for America. But few of them actually take more than an hour or two to live for America.

That statement, at first glance, may seem an unwarranted indictment. For there are tens of thousands of citizens who work at their partnership with government, sincerely and intelligently ,and who are vitally interested in bettering governmental conditions. Particularly is this true in farming communities and rural California, where the ratio of intelligent voting is much higher than in the congested areas of the cities.

But there are 3,200,000 voters in California. And in that vast voting army, the majority still skip political discussions in their newspapers, dodge public meetings and angrily whirl the dials of their radios when the annoucer heralds a political broadcast.

Admittedly, there is provocation. There is far too much insincerity in politics. There are more bad speeches than good ones. But California voters need to take account of their stewardship nonetheless. For the responsibility, in the final analysis, rests with the voters. And the people, as a general rule, get out of government just about what they put into it.

The Sacramento grand jury has turned up some unsavory conditions regarding the state legislature. But it is this writer's belief, after observing affairs at Sacramento, for many years, that the legislature usually reflects conditions back home. If citizenship is below par, the legislature is below par; when the voters are alert and aggressive, the legislature is alert and aggressive. And it should also be said, in justice to the legislators, that good lawmakers, who do their work conscientiously and capably, get for too little credit for it.

Rural California's senators and assemblymen, for the most part, rendered commendable service at the last session in protecting the welfare of rural California. And there should be no thoughtless, blanket indictment of the legislature as a whole just because a few members have made headlines. California, this year needs discerning citizenship—intelligent voting!

Lloyd Dundraas Whiffen, member of the Royal Academy, London, England, is visiting in Grass Valley. He is painting pictures as he roams about over the country. He is a very interesting conversationalist and making many friends.

AIR LINES PLANES REPORT FIRES TO FOREST SERVICE

The Tahoe National Forest receives fire reports from the United Air Lines planes from time to time as they travel their lanes from Sacramento to Reno. One came in Saturday reporting a fire in the deep American river canyon near Secret House. A CCC crew of 50 men was dispatched from the Tahoe Ukiah camp and had it under control after burning over about 175 acres. There is a fine stand of pine timber in this area.

The fire was started by a 19 year boy, Paul Beatty. at his cabin. He was brought before Judge Silva of Placer county, and was given a 3-months' county jail sentence. Beatty has a prior conviction in February 1936 being charged with jail breaking and grand larceny, and was sent to Preston school. He was later put on parole till he was 21 years of age in April of 1937. The case has been referred to the Preston school authorities for cancellation of the parole.

Mrs. C. D. Ashey and son of Fort Mason are spending a two weeks vacation with Mrs. P. Armstrong in Nevada City. They are old time friends.

DIES WHILE RESTING

William Cleary, a mining man, who has been operating the Sandusky Placer near Forest City, but for the past two weeks has been staying in Downieville, was found dead on his bed in the St. Charles Hotel yesterday morning. He was fully clothed and had evidently expired as he lay on the bed for a nap before retiring.

The body was brought to Nevada City by the Holmes Funeral Home and prepared for shipment to San Francisco where funeral arrangements are pending. It will be shipped today.

Ben Sweeney is spending this week in Nevada City with his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Sweeney. His siste Mardel Sweeney of San Francis came up for the past week end an upon her return her daughter, Jean Titus accompanied her home fa a vacation.

SHAMROCK CAFE AIR COOLED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyant have installed a new general electric air coler in their dining rom in the Shamrock Cafe which was purchased from the Alpha Hardware Stores. The room is now delightfully cool and the customers find the Shamrock the most comfortable place to eat and enjoy their meals. The public is also pleased that Mr. and Mrs. Wyant have re-opened their restaurant, the famous Shamrock Cafe, for Sunday meals. Special dinners are to be served and the public will be welcome to this air cooled room for the special Sunday dinners.

Albert Pratti was in a party that caught five fine large bass on Thursday near Yuba City.

"Aunt Kate" Sullivan and daughter, Miss Nelly Sullivan of French Corral were Nevada City visitors Tuesday, visiting friends and attending to business affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shance and family and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swartz have moved into the two apartments of the old Pianizzi home on Sacramento and Clark street which was recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Garrison. The house has been completely remodeled and another garage built.

SPROUL TALKS ON GREAT MENACE OF MISTRUST

ORONO, Me., June 23—The University of Maine, "twin" of the University of California in chronologic time and in its adherence to high standards and high ideals, was given a stirring Commencement Day picture of the present plight of democracy by the president of the latter institution, Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul.

Both universities, Dr. Sproul told the graduating class, are Land Grant Colleges established as a result of the Morrill act, and both opened their doors in the same year, 1868. Each graduated twelve men in its first class and each called them "The Twelve Disciples."

"Peace and democracy are afloat on the same raft, and whatever endangers the one must be a menace to the other," the California president told the graduates. "The world will never be a fit world for humanity until both of them, democracy and peace, have been made secure.

"The ancient, tested faundations on which men have traditionally built in faith and confidence are crumbling today with alarming rapidity. Governments do not believe what other governments say. How can they, when they know how little truth there is in the words their own mouths utter?

"Cries of privilege favoritism and fraud fan the sparks of envy in the hearts of the relatively unsuccessful into flames of hate and malice, even though it can be demonstrated conclusively that these evils exist to an even greater degree in politics and bureaucracy than in the marts of trade and the counting rooms of finance; that the personnel of business management is selected and advanced on merit tests more rigorous than political governments has ever known.

"Yet the utterly unsound notion is incessantly promulgated that our American society is segregated into fixed, definite and mutually antagonistic groups, and that the more successful of these must be reduced to the level of mediocrity by the compulsion of those who are already in that self-satisfied status. Thus we have reached the point where the public is losing confidence in every great agency of our common life. Banker, New Dealer, professor, legislator, bureaucrat, rugged individualist, the police and the courts, the pulpit and the platform all are looked upon with suspicion.

"To some in the world this is a desirable state of affairs. It parallels the background against which Communism came to power in Russia, and that paralysis of action which brought Nazism to Germany. But for those who believe in democratic institutions, nothing is more alarming than the rapid growth of mistrust and intolerance within our own national borders."

ON HONOR ROLL

Nevada County is represented on the honor roll of Placer Junior College released last Monday by Dean Wyman E. Olson.

Shirley Brattin and Gerald Pratt of Grass Valley, and Miss Dorothy Thomas of Nevada City are named on the list released by Olson.

Pratt is a transfer from Stockton Junior College. Miss Thomas and Brattin are freshmen at the Auburn school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Prouse of the Drive-in Market have left for Long Beach for about a ten day vacation.

Ponemah Council held an enthusiastic meeting Monday evening and committees were appointed for the July 4th celebration. A float was decided on and other business attended to.

Highway Crews Enjoy House Warming Party

The highway crews of Nevada City and Grass Valley entertained at a party given in the old Pianezzi home on Gold Run, Tuesday evening, June 21. The party was in the nature of a "house warming" for the remodeled home, recently purchased by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Garrison of this city. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shance and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Swartz, new tenants of the house.

Mrs. F. R. Garrison made a large strawberry shortcake, to go with the sandwiches and coffee which were brought by the guests. Party games were payed and both apartments were exhibited. The group first assembled in the Shance apartment and then journeyed to the upstairs apartment tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swartz. Both tenant families are employees of the local division of highways.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hieronimus, Mrs. Jack MacLaughlin and children; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bush; Harold Hendricks, Walter J. Butz; Mr. and Mrs. L. Sbaffi; Mrs. Joe Young and children; Claude Beaudeare; Mrs. Laura Foster; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Long and family; Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Garrison; Fred Garrison, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shance and family and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swartz of Nevada City. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bennett; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Latour and children; Jack Bluette, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johns of Grass Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Duane Mapes of Santa Monica; Wesley Barnhardt and B. Borsen of Marysville.

Glenn Cleland Home Setting for Party

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cleland were given a most delightful surprise party Saturday evening. They have recently had their home remodeled and the happy affair was in the nature of a housewarming the group presenting Mr. and Mrs. Cleland with a beautiful floor lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stirwalt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weldon, furnished amusement by selections on the piano and Mrs. C. E. Bosworth was accompanist. Games and dancing completed an old fashioned party that was complete with the serving of a dainty luncheon.

Present for the happy affair were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stiwart, Mr. and Mrs. Max Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cleland, John Hubbard, Glen Hargrave, Louie Gaspari, Misses Naomi Cleland, Lotus Wales.

Festivities at Bolton Home Sunday Evening

Miss Alberta Bolton celebrated her birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bolton, of Walrath avenue Sunday with a most delightful party. It was also the birthday of two cousins, Eunice Cobeldick of Grass Valley and Carl Katzer, who were also present.

A beautifully decorated birthday cake was the central feature of the daintily arranged table. It was also Father's Day and Harry E. Bolton did the honors for the four fathers present by cutting the cake.

Present for the delightful time were Mr. and Mrs. George Cobeldick and family of Grass Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Katzer and son; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sinnock and son, Colfax; Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bolton and children, Mrs. Thomas Oliver.

At the close of the evening Harry E. Bolton was presented with a delightful surprise, a beautiful living room chair, as a Father's Day gift.

NEW HOSPITAL TO COST $250,000

Judge Edgar T. Zook, San Francisco attorney at law and secretary-treasurer of the Grass Valley Memorial Hospital, announces that preliminary work on the excavations for the foundation of the new hospital at the site of the Prisk orchards on the Grass Valley-Nevada City highway, have begun and it is hoped the work on the building may be commenced next year.

Present plans of the hospital association call for an expenditure of about $250,000 for construction purposes and the corporation has more than one third of the necessary capital on hand at the present time. If satisfactory arrangements can be concluded to finance the balance of the cost, work will start in the immediate future, otherwise early next spring seems the more likely period declared Judge Zook.

The Prisk orchards site and summer home were bought for the hospital site more than a year ago at a cost of close to $100,000. The association has spent another $10,000 in building, servicing and landscaping the roads which will lead to the proposed building.

The actual site will be to the immediate west of the high and large oak tree, visible from the state highway and immediately to the north of the Nevada County Golf Club. Stakes have been placed and the area cleared. The stakes outline a hospital building which will have 62 points or facings, providing sun for all wings throughout the day.

The Grass Valley Memorial Hospital Association underwrote the cost of installing a Red Cross Nursing Unit in Grass Valley and Nevada City for 1938 and undoubtedly the association will underwrite the cost of maintenance of the unit for 1939. Miss Clara Sheldon, Red Cross Public Health Nurse is in charge and reports a heavy increase of nursing activities.

John Miller returned to Nevada City this week from Arizona where he has spent several months.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITH DEETER

This week's short, short story: The Louis-Schmelling fight — and boy, was it short and was it terrific!

Out of the clear blue sky: Cliff Warner has his photos on exhibition we notice, and golly he has some lovely work to show. There is one very large, portrait of an aged man, that is beyond words beautiful, you expect the subject to turn and speak to you at any minute, you simply must see it. And speaking of artists, we have had Lloyd Dundas-Whiffen (yes, he is an Englismman!) sketching about in our garden the past couple of days, and we certainly have enjoyed him and his work. He seems to have lived all over this old globe of ours, and is full of interesting anecdotes. His work is simply lovely too, and we do so enjoy watching him at it. Incidentally we find we have a mutual friend in Esther Easton, the well known San Francisco portrait painter, who recently did a lovely head of Mrs. Arthur Foote of Grass Valley. Miss Easton has many friends up here, and we are hoping she will come up and say "Hullo" this summer.

And still speaking of artists we understand that Muriel and Zoe Brannegan had a perfectly grand opening of their exhibition at the Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento last Sunday. They had tea and a reception which was well attended and needless to say artistically done. We fine this show goes on until June 30, so every one interested in art will have time to get down and see it.

Well, the 4th activities are well on theih way, we are having a lot of fun over it ourselves. Knees Arden has some fine photos of the contesting queens. We are dashing around looking for girls for the Chamber of Commerce entry. Everyone is suddenly appearing in Mexican regalia, gosh we'll have to hunt up a serape or something for ourselves pretty soon.

This week's laugh: George Richards, solemnly assuring us that a lino cut we did of a donkey going south would print facing us — yes my friends we believed it . . we are taking a terrible razzing.

And with this we say to you, cheerio, everybody!

LOCAL BOYS IN EAST

Johnnie Sbaffi is in receipt of a letter from his brother, Joe Sbaffi, who is with Robert Paine and Carl Stedger in the east. The three boys drove to Chicago and from there flew by plane to New York and on to Washington, D. C. in Washington a day and evening were spent with Congressman Harry L. Englebright. In New York City Fred Searls took them to the New York stock exchange and then to his club where they were his guests at dinner. They also visited Jack Dempseys restaurant. The boys attended the big Louis-Schmelling prize fight Wednesday evening.

Miss Doreen Foreman and cousin, Bernice McQuay, are spending this week in the bay district with their aunt, Miss Iva Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ewing have moved from Nevada City to Pike City. Mr. Ewing will be employed at a mine in the Plum Valley district

GLENN CLELAND HOME REMODELED, MODERNIZED

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cleland have remodeled their home on North Pine street in a most unusual and artistic manner. The stepping stones lead from the street to the door and chimes serve as a door bell. A sportsman's theme with fishing rods, fish baskets and mounted deer head is carried out in the living room. The ceiling is high, finished in redwood with heavy yellow pine beams supporting a beautiful old hanging lamp. The walls are knotty pine finished with burnt veneer.

The dining room has an inlaid ceiling of knotty pine and redwood used in the design. The side panels are burnt with a blow torch to artistic effect and there is a hanging lamp of 1870, a unique decorative feature.

One bedroom is finished in pickle pine with veneer finish. Another bedroom is in natural color waxed pine. The kitchen in ivory and tan enamel. Downstairs is arranged summer quarters with many conveniences.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joubert of Camptonville were Nevada City visitors Wednesday. Mr. Joubert is still operating his hydraulic mining property and expects to have enough water to continue two weeks more. One monitor works in the deep pit and has had the longest operating season in some time due to a wet winter.

Proud motorist: "You wouldn't think this is a second hand car, would you?"

Neighbor: "No, It looks like something you made yourself."

Si Sofge of Willow Valley, who recently retired from the state printing office, proudly stated Monday that he was a grandfather, a son being born to his daughter, Mrs. Alva Fleming and Mr. Fleming Saturday.
